

LEGISLATIVE ACTIVITIES DURING LAST WEEK—AN INTERESTING RESUME OF PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENTARY PROCEEDINGS

With five solid weeks completed, the 1930 session of the Legislature of Alberta is drawing to a close. As the days grow longer and warmer the rural members begin to get uneasy and the session will probably close on or about March 21, the first day of spring. The week just passed has seen the practical passing of The Wheat Pool Guarantee Bill and the completion of the estimates. Before prorogation four matters remain: Redistribution, the new School Act, the Mines Act, and the final stages of the Security Frauds Prevention Act. Whether it will be prorogation or dissolution has not yet been announced but those who think they know say that there will be no election this summer.

The Wheat Pool Guarantee Bill passed its second reading on Monday, went through Committee of the Whole House on Tuesday, and now awaits only the formalities of third reading and royal assent. The second reading brought out strong Liberal and Conservative criticism of minor points and of the Premier's methods though they agreed with the principle and voted for the bill. J. T. Shaw, Bow Valley, the Liberal leader, said that though he would not oppose the bill the government must accept entire responsibility and full blame in case of disaster because the Premier had not given out enough information. In the other provinces the opposition leaders had been called into conference by the premiers. Further, the bill did not prevent the Pool from making fresh advances to members or from securing other business. Col. C. Y. Wenner, Cons. Edmonton, charged that the Pool had departed from the principle of orderly marketing by buying wheat and by buying it on options. He wanted a time limit set to the guarantee. D. M. Duggan, the Cons. leader, declared his sympathy with the pool movement. He had been chairman of the first pool meeting held in Edmonton. For all his sympathy he didn't care to hand a blank check to the Wheat Pool. Further, he thought that the 45% of the farmers who did not belong should get some benefit from the government support. W. H. Shield, U. F. A., Macleod, in reply declared that the non-pool farmer would soon suffer if the Pool should fail. He suggested that since a Liberal-Progressive Premier in Manitoba, a Conservative Premier in Saskatchewan, and a Farmer one here were satisfied, their judgment should be good enough for the opposition. Mr. Brownlee then dealt fully with all objections. He had given to all the members of the House information which had been given only to the leaders in the other provinces. He had with held only information which could be of value to the business rivals of the pool, that is: the amount of sales already made, the amount of wheat held by the Pool, and the purchases of the Pool made to stabilize prices. He expressed his belief that the Pool had done right in buying wheat to prevent the price going out of sight. Help given to the Pool helped all farmers whether members or not. Business men had expressed their satisfaction to him in thus backing the Pool.

The second reading passed unanimously. The adjourned debate on the motion of D. M. Duggan, Cons. Edmonton calling for the abolition of the Alberta Provincial Police and their replacement by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was then resumed by Mr. Lymburn, the Attorney General. He outlined the work of the present force showing that they are much more than mere police. Money saved by the change, and he wasn't convinced on that, would be eaten up in hiring inspectors and game guardians. It was well, too, to have the police under the direct control of the provincial government. He concluded with a strong appeal to the House to back up the police if they wished to have an efficient force. Geo. Webster, Lib., Calgary, thought they should be called the Alberta Prevention Police if they did all that Mr. Lymburn said they did. He emphasized the considerable saving that would accrue by the change. Col. Wenner, Cons. Edmonton, showed that there was no danger of "remote control" for in Saskatchewan the R. C. M. P. took orders directly from the Attorney-General. M. C. McKeen, U. F. A., Lac Ste. Anne, took the attitude that only the rural members really understand the situation and apparently none of them wanted a change. Sam Brownlee, U. F. A., High River, pointed out that a new A. P. P. might have to be rebuilt at the end of 7 years a satisfactory renewal agreement could not be made with the federal government. J. T. Shaw, using R. C. M. P. reports and Saskatchewan estimates built up a strong case by showing that the R. C. M. P. carried out their duties. The leaders of the government seemed a little worried though not convinced. BROWNLEE HINTS NO 1930 ELECTION

Edmonton, March 8.—There won't be a general provincial election this year. At any rate, all the signs point that way, and political depesters, except the Liberal opposition group, with whom the wish is father to the thought, all agree that an election is in the least bit likely. True, the new natural resources bill provides for a minister, which means a new cabinet seat. True also, that the new redistribution bill will open seats in Edmonton, Calgary, Drumheller and Peace River, and especially in the first two named, in one of which ridings the new minister of natural resources will undoubtedly run. But the other side of the picture: The natural resources bill provides that the provincial secretary—and that is Hon. J. E. Brownlee—will act as minister of resources for the time being. This means that Mr. Brownlee will be empowered to conduct all the final negotiations for the transfer of the resources and that there isn't the slightest need of hurrying on an election merely to find a seat for the new cabinet minister. And Mr. Brownlee himself, talking with newspapermen today, smilingly hinted that the government had enough on its hands, without bringing on an election this year. Which sounds like a fairly good reason for that.

Careless driving isn't a matter of temperament. It's just the result of owning a car that another scratch can't hurt.

"PARADE OF THE WEST" HUMS WITH ACTION—NEW KEN MAYNARD PICTURE A FINE FILM—THURS.—FRI.—SAT.—

Snapping with action, humming with the old west and seething with romance and adventure, "The Parade of the West," a Universal all-talking production starring Ken Maynard, is a splendid example of the entertainment value of a good western picture. Also it shows the refreshing new twist added to western pictures by the advent of sound.

"The Parade of the West," revives two rapidly fading institutions that are fast becoming a memory, with all the glamour that made them so picturesquely American—the old-time medicine show and the original wild west show.

The picture, thrilling and entertaining in itself, is lifted far out of the class of the ordinary by the songs played and sung by Maynard and members of the cast, old-time western favorites like "The Chisholm Trail," "Down in Union County" and "Sal's Got A Wooden Leg."

Maynard was the first "western" star to make an all talking picture. He was quick to realize that "westerns," with their fast moving stories, their rapid-fire dialogue, their songs and music and their natural sound "effects" were more suited to sound than the ordinary motion picture, and he took full advantage of it.

At 12:25 Revinsky was taken from his cell and escorted to the death chamber a few paces distant. His hands and feet were shackled, the black cap adjusted. Rev. Max Kalen, Regina, rabbi and spiritual adviser of the youthful murderer, commenced recitation of prayers.

At 12:30 o'clock the trap was sprung by Arthur Ellis, the hangman. A few minutes later, Dr. M. E. Rothwell, jail physician, pronounced Revinsky dead.

Mr. Wilkinson, sheriff; William Gleadwell, jail warden; Dr. Rothwell and a few jail attendants were the only witnesses of the execution.

"Horses eat pastry," says a headline, and this generation will wonder whether it is a freak news item or the correct answer to question No. 6.

And now the gold digger is glorified in song! In "Gold Diggers of Broadway," Warner Bros.' 100% natural color, singing, talking, dancing Vitaphone comedy special in technicolor which comes to the Empress Theatre Monday next only, a huge musical revue, which beside the all-star cast includes a dazzling beauty chorus of 100, is presented as part of the colorful background of the story.

One of the song hits of the musical review is "The Song of the Gold Diggers." Ann Pennington, famous Broadway dancing and singing star, sings the number. "The Song of the Gold Diggers" and eight others, were written especially for Al Dubin and Joe Burke, well known composers of popular melodies.

In addition to Miss Pennington, the all-star cast of "Gold Diggers of Broadway," includes Lilian Tashman, Conway Tearle, Nick Lucas, Albert Gran, Nancy Welford, William Bakewell, Helen Foster, Winnie Lightner, Jola Swayne, Gordon, Gertrude Short and others. Robert Lord adapted the story from Avery Hopwood's successful stage play. The stage production is by Larry Ceballos. Roy Del Ruth directed.

EX-PRESIDENT W. H. TAFT PASSES AT WASHINGTON AFTER ILLNESS EXTENDING OVER SEVERAL WEEKS

Washington, D. C., March 10.—William Howard Taft, former president and former chief justice of the United States passed peacefully from life late Saturday afternoon. A stroke from hardening of the arteries preceded death by half an hour. He was in his 73rd year. The resting of his body in state at the Capitol, and other honors befitting the exalted place he won for himself, will be accorded, and his body, at his own request, will rest in Arlington cemetery, the citadel of the nation's heroic dead.

President Hoover was foremost among the many who went sorrowfully Saturday night to the residence on Wyoming avenue where the only man in history to hold America's two highest offices slept in death. The president announced a 30-day period of official mourning.

At the point of death for many days, suffering hopelessly from a combination of ailments, Mr. Taft had surprised his physicians by the vitality of his last hours. But at 4:45 Saturday afternoon a sudden stroke, while he was alone except for his nurse, heralded the end.

Fifteen minutes later, Dr. H. G. Fuller reached the bedside, but turning away with a shake of his head, Mrs. Taft, summoned from another room, took up her station near at hand for the last vigil. At 5:15 o'clock death snuffed out the flame.

Premier King's Message
Ottawa, March 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—The efforts of the late Hon. William Howard Taft to promote international friendship and goodwill will receive special mention in a message from Premier W. L. Mackenzie King to Hon. Vincent Massey, Canadian minister at Washington, asking him to convey to President Hoover the sympathy of the government and people of Canada in Mr. Taft's death.

The message to Mr. Massey is as follows: "Will you please convey to the president on behalf of the government and people of Canada the expression of our sympathy in the loss which the United States has sustained in the death of its distinguished citizen and former president, Hon. William Howard Taft. Our country shares with other countries the loss which the world has sustained in the passing of one who was a friend at all times to those great causes which aim at the promotion of international friendship and goodwill."

The prime minister also sent a message of sympathy to Mrs. Taft.

HEAVY BRANCH LINE PROGRAM FOR WEST—CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS TO SPEND NINE MILLIONS ON 1930 CONSTRUCTION

Nine million dollars will be spent on branch line construction by the Canadian National Railways in Western Canada this year, according to a statement made today by A. E. Warren, western vice-president of the company. This is exclusive of the Hudson Bay Railway and does not include any expenditure for betterments or new works on lines now in operation.

The work to be undertaken this year includes the grading of 261 miles; laying of track on 201 miles and the ballasting of 280 miles. When this work is finished, the company will have opened for operation 290 miles of the 518 mile three-year branch line program approved by the Federal Government at its last session.

Twelve branch lines are covered by the program of which six are wholly in Saskatchewan; one partly in Saskatchewan and Alberta; three wholly in Alberta and two in British Columbia. Divided by provinces the work can be summarized as follows: Saskatchewan, 171 miles of grading, 139 miles of track laying and 218 miles of ballasting; Alberta 78 miles of grading and 52 miles of track laying and ballasting; B. C., thirty-two miles of grading and ten miles of tracklaying and ballasting. The longest piece of line is 125 miles joining St. Walburg, Sask., and Bonnyville, Alta., of this line 100 miles will be graded during the year and steel laid and ballasting completed on 50 miles.

In addition to the completion of this 290 miles, grading will also be finished on 225 miles of additional line and 90 additional miles of steel laid, so that very little work will be required to complete the full program within the stipulated three-year period.

Two bridges of considerable size will be constructed this year in connection with this programme. One of these is over the Beaver River in Saskatchewan. It will be 1300 feet long, 110 feet high and will have a clear span of 180 feet. The second is over the Fraser River. It will be 41 feet long and will contain a swing span 280 feet long. Three hundred miles of fencing, 240 miles of telegraph line and a large number of railway buildings are also included in this construction program.

BRITISH NAVAL ESTIMATES CUT BY $20,000,000

London, March 6.—(A.P.)—British naval estimates for 1930, made public today, show a net total of $1,739,000 pounds sterling against $5,865,000 pounds sterling for 1929, or a reduction of $4,126,000.

Re. Hon. A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, in a statement accompanying the estimates said the substantial decrease was due principally to reduction which the Government felt justified in making in the shipbuilding program of 1928 and 1929, in accordance with a policy already stated in parliament—that is, trimming of naval building to meet decreased needs produced by the British-Kellogg Pact and other peace instruments.

Summary of Reductions
He summarized the reductions as follows: Five vessels of the 1928 program have been cancelled, namely, two cruisers of the 10,000-ton type with 8-inch guns, two submarines and one submarine depot ship.

Twelve vessels of the program of 1929 have been cancelled, namely: two cruisers, four torpedo-boat destroyers, three submarines, two sloops, and one net-layer and target-towing vessel. One of the cruisers cancelled is of the 10,000-ton type with 8-inch guns.

He said that, in addition, decision whether the three remaining submarines of the 1929 program are to be proceeded with has been deferred until after the London naval conference.

Future Shipbuilding
Mr. Alexander, claimed that the effect of changes in the full program for the preceding two years is "to reduce expenditure of new construction in these estimates by over $4,000,000."

With regard to future shipbuilding he said the government had decided not to formulate any proposals until the results of the naval conference had become known and had been fully considered. "No provision," he said "therefore, is included in these estimates for commencing any further new construction in 1930."

WHAT IS THE WHEAT POOL?—EXTRACTS FROM LEADING EDITORIAL IN THE "FAMILY HERALD AND WEEKLY MONTREAL," FEB. 26, 1930

It is an organization of farmers which is trying to do for the grain-growers what every organization of bankers or manufacturers or skilled workers tries to do for the class it represents.

The Wheat Pool does nothing for the farmers—needs nothing for the farmers—that these organizations do not ask for their clients.

Yet the Canadian Wheat Pool has been under savage fire ever since it decided in the interests of the Canadian Grain Growers to delay the marketing of this season's crop.

The Canadian Wheat Pool is a co-operative selling organization, founded on sound economic principles, and it was brought into being for the purpose of obtaining the best possible price for the wheat growers by control of the output and by collective bargaining rather than depending on the haphazard methods of individual bartering, which prevailed prior to formation of the pool.

If the leaders of the Wheat Pool thought it good business tactics to withhold their wheat until the market ceased to be "rigged" against them that was strictly their own business. They may turn out to be right or to be wrong. They are only human and they may err. Even the shrewdest financiers "guess wrong" sometimes.

The principle of co-operative selling is not a new thing in Canada. The Pool has sought no special powers and its leaders had as good a right as any business men to wait for the turn of the market. It is utterly unfair to attack them as if they had done wicked or an unpatriotic thing. They were merely doing business on business principles in precisely the way their bitterest critics always do business.

The real cause of all this outcry is that the financiers and the manufacturers are not accustomed to seeing the farmers organize effectively for purely business purposes. They have organized for social and philanthropic objects. But the men who get rich by lending money to the farmers and the men who become millionaires by selling them goods do not relish the spectacle of these same farmers organizing to control their own markets.

Yet the sole object of the Pool is to retain for the men who grow the wheat the full profits of their labors which before the coming of the Pool were divided between the growers and the grain exchange speculators.

Certain factors in the situation operated against the Pool. There was a large carryover from the bumper harvest of 1928 and a lack of elevators in the Argentine compelled the South American growers to dump millions of bushels on the market. State subsidized wheat from Germany was also imported freely into England, while France and other countries had an available export surplus which helped to expand the available supply.

The Pool leaders never wavered in their course. The Pool had been organized to secure the highest price for the grower shareholders and if it failed in this and the farmers saw their profits go to the gamblers they would lose faith in the Pool.

The issue is not solely a western issue. It affects all Canada. The wheat crop of the Dominion in her largest industry. A difference of ten cents a bushel on wheat controlled by the Pool would mean the gaining or the losing of $20,000,000 to Canada, first, directly by the wheat growers and thereafter by the retailers, wholesalers and citizens generally.

The Pool is not seeking a monopoly of the world's grain in order to gain control of the market. It is not attempting to hold up the price of wheat to the millers. It is conscientiously carrying out the functions for which it was created and in so doing it is doing no more than every sensible industry does—that the selling agencies of every human product does—than, for instance, the Orange Growers of California do.

The Canadian farmers have an equal right with all other producers to organize themselves with a view to marketing their output in the most profitable manner. They are not exceeding that right. They are not striking any blow at the Dominion—they are rather building up its general prosperity and enhancing its wealth by bettering the methods with which the products of its greatest industry are brought into the world markets.

Abuse of the Pool. Unfair criticism of its methods—striking at its representatives—"bearing" its markets—will neither drive from it the support and sympathy of sensible Canadians nor deflect their leaders or the rank and file from the straightforward and courageous course they have marked out as being profitable, proper and patriotic.

MAHATMA GANDHI SENDS ULTIMATUM FOR INDIAN NATIONAL INDEPENDENCE—DISOBEDIENCE CAMPAIGN THREATENED

Ahmadabad, India, March 6.—(A.P.)—The ultimatum of Mahatma Gandhi, addressed to the British Viceroy, asking for Indian national independence, and threatening in the event of that a campaign of intensive civil disobedience, was made public here today.

Gandhi, venerable Indian Nationalist, after a vehement attack on British rule in India, which he says has impoverished the dumb millions, says: "On behalf of those I ask you to ponder this phenomenon."

The ultimatum is addressed to the Viceroy, Lord Irwin, and begins: "My dear friend, before embarking upon civil disobedience, and taking risks which I have dreaded all these years, I would fain approach you and find a way out. My personal faith is absolutely clear. I hold British rule to be a curse, but I do not intend to harm a single Englishman or a legitimate interest he may have in India."

The ultimatum then enumerates circumstances in which his hope that a round-table conference at London would furnish a solution of the problem has been frustrated. Gandhi declared that as the plan for an interview at New Delhi miscarried there is no option but to carry out the solemn resolutions of the National Congress.

"The resolution for independence should not cause alarm if the phrase 'dominion status' in your announcement was used in the accepted sense for have not British statesmen admitted that dominion status is a virtual independence? Since that announcement, however, many things have happened which show unmistakably the trend of British policy."

"It is as clear as daylight that responsible British statesmen do not contemplate any alteration of British policy that might adversely affect British commerce with India or that would require impartial scrutiny of Great Britain's transaction in India. If nothing is done to end the process of exploitation India must be bled with increasing speed."

"The party of violence is gaining ground, and is making itself felt. Having an unquestioning, unmovable faith in the efficacy of non-violence, it would be sinful on my part to wait longer. This non-violence will be expressed through civil disobedience which, for the moment, will be confined to the importation of foreign goods. I have (Gandhi's collected) but designed ultimately to cover all those who join the movement."

"If you can not deal with these evils and if my letter does not appeal to your heart, I shall, March 11 proceed with such measure as I can take for disregarding of the provisions of the salt tax, which is most iniquitous from the poor man's view-point and which never should have defiled the statute book."

"It is open to you to frustrate my design by arresting me, but I hope there will be tens of thousands ready in a disciplined manner to take my work after me."

"A man may be down, but he isn't cut." That sounds cheerful but it isn't. You can say that much for the janitor's fire.

97 PER CENT SUBNORMAL

A Detroit judge recently got a psychiatric clinic to examine 100 criminals who appeared before him. Before passing sentence, he wanted to know what kind of minds the prisoners might have.

The psychiatrist's report was illuminating:
Two of the prisoners, they found, were definitely insane.

Thirty-three more were definitely feeble-minded.
Twenty-five more were of inferior intelligence.

Thirty-seven more had "deviations in personality" that handicapped them severely in the matter of adjusting themselves to society's demands.

Just three were mentally and emotionally normal.

Summing up, the psychiatrists reported that 71 of the prisoners were "poor community risks" and urged that the two insane persons be sent to asylums and that the other 63 be imprisoned.

Effect of the remaining prisoners, they said, were "reasonably good community risks" that is, they were good enough to a normal state so that society could take a chance on them. The judge accordingly put these 15 on probation.

Twelve more were put in the doubtful class; of these, the judge imprisoned some and paroled others at his own discretion.

When he pronounced sentence, the judge ordered the psychiatrist's report sent to prison along with each prisoner.

In his handling of these cases this judge displayed considerable wisdom.

dom. He was able, that is, to appreciate a fact that our penological system usually overlooks; that there is no sense in assuming that codes and punishments designed for normal men will necessarily have any effect on the criminal. The criminal is not always a criminal because he is wilfully bad; more often he goes into crime because there is something wrong with him.

We shall never handle our crime situation intelligently until we recognize this fact. We are still so everlastingly afraid of "coddling criminals" that we hesitate to use even ordinary horse sense in our dealings with them. This Detroit judge has indicated the line we shall have to follow if we are to get decent results.

But the problem is far from simple. The biggest obstacle, probably, is the fact that the psychiatrist does not, as yet, enjoy public confidence to the extent that the ordinary surgeon does. There is a wide suspicion that our alienists do not know quite as much as they think they know. The spectacle that we frequently get in murder trials, when half a dozen distinguished scientists will declare that a man is sane while another half dozen, equally distinguished, insist that he is insane, contributes to this suspicion.

The study of abnormal psychology is still in its infancy. Even now, however, it could give us valuable assistance if we chose to use it. The findings in Detroit show how badly we need it.

THE COST OF WAR

In his recent speech, broadcast over the Atlantic to this continent, Philip Snowden gave some figures about the cost of the great war to Great Britain which are almost incredible. Fifty billion dollars is an inconceivable sum, yet that is what the war has already cost Britain.

Five million dollars a day are required to meet war debt obligations, and this represents the whole-time labor of 2,000,000 workers, year in and year out. Mr. Snowden calculates that it will take 150 years to pay off the present war debt.

The fixed charges on the debt already incurred, together with the annual expenditures for armaments, absorb three-quarters of the total resources of the country.

All the great powers, with the exception of Germany, are spending more for war purposes than they were in 1913, the annual expenditures being set at $4,500,000,000, the United States heading the list with an outlay of $379,000,000, while Britain exceeds her pre-war expenditure by $175,000,000.

Civilized peoples have so heavily mortgaged their resources that many generations will continue to struggle under a load of debt, for which, as time goes on, less and less reason can be advanced in mitigation of the insane policy that resulted in the catastrophe of 1914.

We have peace pacts renouncing war as an instrument of national policy, and yet more money is being devoted to warlike preparations than at any time in the history of the world. If the case were not so tremendously serious, the paradox presented by these circumstances would be laughable. We do not believe, however, that the people of the earth are either so hopelessly stupid, or so hopelessly insane that they may not be guided by reason and common sense to devise plans that will remove the constant menace of war, and put an end to the enormous drain of economic resources into worse than useless channels.

AN AMBASSADOR SPEAKS OUT

Sir Esme Howard went home from the embassy at Washington and told Great Britain that it made his hair stand on end to realize the responsibility of a British ambassador to the United States before Canada sent her own minister.

And Sir Esme added the pleasant prediction, not yet realized by the Old Country and not altogether shared in this country, that Canada will be one of the world's greatest powers within 50 years.

Not long to wait. A half-century is a brief period in the life of a nation.

Canadian reactionaries should hear Sir Esme. They should digest the significance of Canada's place in world affairs, as seen by a competent and unprejudiced observer. It would do them good. They would call off their stupid opposition to Canadian ministries in the United States, Japan, France and other countries.

Canada's supremacy will be built on industry at home plus commerce abroad. With the steady expansion of that commerce will come a host of problems which must be adjusted on the spot. For upon that adjustment must depend the close relations which make the capacity of growth of commerce possible.

Trade and diplomacy form an essential team. They were teamed in the days of the Phoenicians, the Romans, the British, and they are more vital to each other now than ever before.

The world respects and admires the boy who is becoming a man. It ridicules and despises a man who clings to the garb of a boy.

And Canada's embassies are the stamp of the nation's manhood.

PLOUGHSHARES AND FLIVERS

Henry Ford's remark that there might be circumstances under which he would be willing to buy the navies of the world and scrap the ships for the metal in them probably drew a smile from most newspaper readers.

The proposition is rather apt, though, and it won't do to smile too hard, because some day Ford might up and do it. He's quite capable of it. And if an enduring world peace ever comes, it will come largely because the great industrialists like Ford want it to come.

The thing we like best about it, though, is its analogy with the old prophecy about the beating of swords into ploughshares. Sub-

It isn't pleasant to be on a liner that is hit by a torpedo; but a six-inch shell from a scout cruiser can spread a good deal of tragedy, too.

Usually the most scornful critic of "vokels" is one who moved to town and quit wiping his nose on his coat sleeve after he was grown.

The Trail Rangers were not able to proceed to Staveland last Thursday afternoon, on account of lack of cars. The Mentor took seven and made the trip, though a little late on account of a puncture. A well-played game took place with the Staveland-Parkland Trail Rangers and Tuxis Team, which Granum won by the score of 5-1. The ice was beautiful and the game very fast, with the skating and stickhandling of the Granum Rangers taking the eye of the spectators. "Slim" Haynes, of the Staveland seniors, refereed with satisfaction, and only had to impose one penalty—that on one of the home team. Goals were scored for Granum by Russell, Art, Herman, and Anderson, while Basil Romain scored one that was declared offside. All the players acquitted themselves well. Staveland

After the opening exercises and business conducted by the President, Miss Smith, at the Y. P. S. on Monday last, Mr. Mair took the chair for the evening's program, which was literary. There was a reading of selections from "Poems of Justice," edited by Thomas Curtis Clark, noted American author, and then Mr. Mair gave a very interesting address on "Tendencies in Modern Literature and Art." Discussion took place after this, and there followed a very fine recreational program. Another feature of the program was a song impersonation in which quite a number took part, among others—Rita Lantinga, Duncan McKenzie, Mr. Mair, Freda Sherman, C. Fied, Mae Henker, Dorothy Smith, Mary Dimm and others. Among the songs represented were "Melancholy," "A Monastery Garden," "Me and My Shadow," "An Unfinished Symphony," "A Little Kitchenette," "The Last Rose of Summer," etc. At 6:30 next Monday, St. Patrick's evening, the Young People will assemble at the Hall for the trip to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Fletcher whose residence is so kindly opened by them that night for a St. Patrick's Social. Every young man and woman of the community will be welcomed.

The nastiest crimes are committed by the pious, according to Menckin; which means that the farther an object falls, the deeper it buries itself.

And yet a man can avoid annoying conflict with the law just by the simple process of being decent and attending to his own business.

had a couple of little fellows who played a fine game. The Granum lineup was as follows: Goal, C. Field, Defence, Anderson and Romain, Centre, W. Field and Herman, right wing Art, left wing Russell.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Leyden and family motored to Vulcan Sunday, visiting at the home of the former's nephew, D. Leyden. Mr. and Mrs. Leyden spent a few hours in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Harper at High River on their way home.

Miss Ruth, elder daughter of John Baird, of Daley Creek district, was operated on for appendicitis at Macleod Hospital last Saturday morning. While she has suffered a good deal of pain, yet her progress has been fair. The people of the entire community are hoping for her speedy recovery.

The Granum and Jumbo Valley Presbyterian Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. W. Thompson Friday afternoon, March 7th. Mrs. J. P. Ross, Vice-President, in the chair. A day of prayer was observed and the program was as generally observed throughout the Dominion.

The cornerstone of the new Presbyterian Church in Granum will be laid on Friday, March 14th. On Sunday, March 16th, a dedicatory service will be held in the Church at 11 p. m., conducted by Rev. W. E. Kelley, M. A., of St. Andrew's Church, Lethbridge. Mr. Kelley will also preach in the evening at 7:30.

The Bridge Drive given by the Women's Institute in Reynolds' Hall on Monday evening was a great success—Ladies' first prize went to Miss L. Venne, the consolation to Mrs. C. Reynolds. The gentlemen's first to Hilby Reynolds, consolation to R. Laughton. A lovely lunch was served by the committee, namely: Mrs. Gustafson, Mrs. P. McKenzie, Mrs. W. Byers and Mrs. J. Marsh.

Everyone who appreciates dramatic reading of high quality should keep on the lookout for the program that will be rendered at an early date in the United Church, Granum, by Rev. J. F. Knight, of Macleod, when he will give his noted recital "Ben Hur." All who heard Mr. Knight last year in "Les Misérables" know what a superb dramatic reader he is, and will be anxious to attend and bring their friends.

The Father and Son banquet of the Northern Light and Carnforth districts was held at the Carnforth School on Wednesday evening, March 12th, under the leadership of the Minister, Mr. Rowe. A good number of boys and men attended and had the usual good time. The mothers and wives assisted in fine style by preparing a bounteous repast for the occasion, and men and boys contributed to the program of songs, speeches and stunts.

The C. G. I. T. girls had a social evening and practice of their musical play at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman on Tuesday evening last. Twelve members were present including Elizabeth Simonsen, Hazel Vail, Vera and Thelma Clarke, Dorcas Rowe, Laura Yargason, Doris Sandgathe, Rita Lantinga, Ruthanna Dimm, Freda and Hazel Sherman and Velma Johnson. Mrs. Sherman served delicious refreshments after the program had ended.

The Ladies' of the Royal Purple motored to Champion on Tuesday last to attend a social evening given by the Royal Purple Ladies of that town. Those motoring over were Mrs. W. Jell, Mrs. Sherman, Mrs. J. Reynolds, Mrs. W. McCorkle, Mrs. Byers, Mrs. H. Dimm, Mrs. H. Hobert, Mrs. C. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. S. Daley, Mr. and Mrs. C. Henker, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dersch. Mrs. S. Daley won the first prize at bridge. A lovely time was reported by all present.

McCormick-Deering Tractors Are Built Right

WE ARE EQUIPPED TO SERVICE

THE MCCORMICK-DEERING

TRACTORS

WE SELL IN THIS COMMUNITY

That's Why We Sell More of These Good Tractors Each Year

We are working shoulder to shoulder with the farmers of this community in the development of the more profitable kind of farming known as POWER FARMING. As our first big step we selected the one best line of modern tractors we could find on the market—the McCormick-Deering line of 10-20, 15-30, and FARMALL tractors. As our second big step we sell these good tractors strictly in accordance with the work to be done. Our line is complete, so we can always provide a customer with exactly the type and size of tractor he needs. As our third big step, we have organized our service department on the most modern basis, equipping with the necessary help, tools, and genuine replacement parts, in order to render tractor service that is in keeping with the quality of the line we sell and with the importance of the work each tractor has to do.

We invite you to come in at any time and see our stock of McCormick-Deering Tractors and inspect our modern facilities for servicing these powerful, long-lived farm power units.

during the coming season the Macleod Tennis Club will be able to put up some fine tennis and give a good account of themselves.

Special mention was made of the very courteous, kindly interchange of plays by the Charesholm Club during the last season.

It was suggested that possibly an inter-town exchange of plays between Pincher Creek, Granum, Macleod and Charesholm might be arranged.
